

CAD 2009

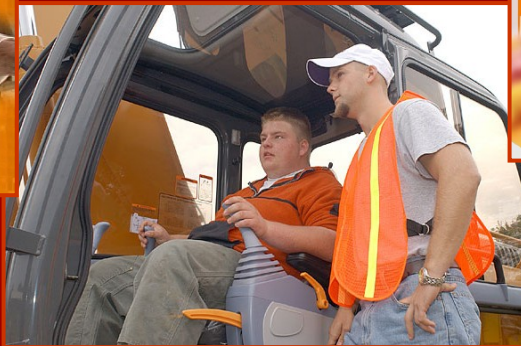

Do you like to build things? Do you enjoy working around dirt, heavy equipment and seeing the results of your work? If so, then we have the event for you! The Associated General Contractors of South Dakota would like to take this opportunity to invite you to Construction Awareness Days 2009.

This one day event is designed to let students get a first hand look at jobsites, operate a piece of heavy equipment and visit with those already in the industry. Students will be divided into two groups: Tours and hands on activities. The tours will be guided by industry professionals to the selected jobsites around the city lasting about two hours. Participants will see first hand exactly what it takes to complete a job from start to finish. The hands-on activities will consist of operating a piece of heavy equipment, conducting a concrete slump test and much, much more!

All students are issued hard hats and safety vests to ensure a safe environment. The groups will meet to have lunch and then switch events. A guest speaker will be on hand and this may be an owner, a project estimator, an equipment operator, a State DOT employee, Human Resources Director or Safety Director to tell of his/her experience and why they selected the construction industry as a career path.

Don't delay sign up today for this exciting event by contacting your counselor! For more information please call Mark Parsons or Darby Warne at 1-800-242-6373.
